

Has Own Ideas

President Nixon tells reporters at a briefing in the White House that he has asked Congress to scrap the Post Office Department as it now exists and to create in its place a government-owned but independent corporation to handle the nation's mail. With the President is Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, who favors the Nixon plan despite the fact that it would cause his own demise as a Cabinet officer. (UPI)

Gunfire Injures Officers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three policemen were shot and nine other officers injured in a clash with black youths in Seattle, Wash. In Denton, Tex., nine persons, including six women, were shot in a melee stemming from an automobile collision.

Seattle police used tear gas and nightsticks Monday night to quell a daylong outbreak of violence in the predominantly Negro central area. Thirty-five persons were arrested.

Members of the Black Student Union at Seattle Community College, protesting refusal of the Board of Trustees to appoint a Negro to the board, marched from the main campus to a branch in the central area, touching off the violence. They were joined by community youths.

One of the trustees, Carl Dakan, resigned early today, paving the way for appointment of a Negro.

His resignation was announced after a 13-hour meeting of college officials, BSU representatives, the Seattle Human Rights Commission and the State Board Against Discrimination. A spokesman for Gov. Dan Evans said he would name a Negro to the post "very soon."

Police said the three wounded officers were in good condition. They said it was not known who fired the shots and officers did not return the fire.

Crowds of youths, ranging up to 300, hurled bricks, rocks and chunks of cement, injuring nine other policemen. Police said three firebombs were also thrown at them.

Heavy rain and a barrage of tear gas cleared Seattle's streets about 10 p.m.

In Denton, a black girl was critically wounded when, police said, a rookie policeman pulled his gun and the weapon fired accidentally.

Police Chief Wayne Autrey said three police cars had responded to a report of a car striking a parked vehicle in front of Hubbard Hall on the Texas Woman's University campus.

Autrey said the driver, a Negro airman, attacked one officer; another policeman coming to his aid, hit the officer's arm, and the gun discharged, striking Glenda Hopkins, 18, a Texas Western student, in the chest. The bullet passed through her and hit Ralph Stow, 18, a student at neighboring North Texas State University, in the groin.

A crowd remained in front of the dormitory after the airman and a female companion were arrested.

Gambling Measure Advances

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House has advanced a measure to allow pari-mutuel betting with the state's share of the proceeds going to education.

The Agriculture Commissioner, hard hit in his 1969-70 budget after cuts by both House and Senate appropriation committees, suffered another setback Monday. The House balked on a bill to increase the pay of commissioner Dexter D. Davis of St. Joseph.

Rep. D. R. Osborn, D — Monroe City sponsored the bill that would have increased Davis' pay from $16,000 to $22,500 per year.

In a vein critical of Davis, Rep. R. H. Branom, D — Hillsdale, recommended $35,000. "Let's give him a good, ridiculous increase that he so justly deserves," Branom said.

The bill was defeated 52-62. A close voice vote brought the horse and dog betting proposal into position for passage. If it passes both Houses it would then have to be approved by the voters.

Yorty-Bradley Race Draws Many Voters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voters turned out in record numbers today for the runoff election between Negro challenger Thomas Bradley and Mayor Sam Yorty, seeking a third term.

City Clerk Rex Layton said the turnout should exceed his prediction of a new high of 70-75 per cent. He based his forecast on a spot check of 75 precincts, which reported voting about 3.6 percentage points ahead of the turnout for the primary last April.

Post Office Change Is Before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today for legislation to convert the Post Office Department into a government-owned, self-sustaining service removed from Cabinet status.

"Traditions die hard and traditional institutions are difficult to abandon," Nixon declared. "But tradition is no substitute for performance, and if our postal system is to meet the expanding needs of the 1970s, we must act now."

The President's proposal was largely based on recommendations submitted by Frederick R. Kappel, head of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's Commission on Postal Organization.

Nixon said his reform, besides removing the post office from the Cabinet, calls for several sweeping changes including:

—Creation of an independent postal service wholly owned by the federal government and administered by a nine-member board of directors.

—New and extensive collection, and this apparently caused some of the casualties.

Marine artillery fired back into the DMZ "silencing the mortar fire," headquarters said, but there was no report of any enemy casualties.

The same Marine position had been hit by about 10 mortar rounds earlier Sunday and one man was wounded.

"They're trying to increase our casualties to get the people back home up in arms to hurry up our withdrawal," said one spokesman for the U.S. Command. "It's part of their overall strategy."

"They've been stockpiling supplies right across the DMZ like mad since the bombing halt. They've never honored the agreement. They've used the DMZ as a sanctuary and continue to build up fortifications there."

Negotiation Limit Set By Saigon

PARIS (AP) — Saigon's chief negotiator said today South Vietnam's constitution is not negotiable at the Paris peace talks and any kind of deal setting up a coalition regime with the Viet Cong is unacceptable.

Ambassador Pham Dang Lam told the Anglo-American Press Club he could not envisage any circumstances in which South Vietnam's constitution could be subject to bargaining with Hanoi and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

He stressed that the constitution does not provide for presidential elections until 1971 and he indicated that the Saigon government is not prepared to advance the date of these elections as part of a possible package deal to end the war.

"The constitution is not a matter for the government to decide," Lam told a questioner. "It is a matter for the competent bodies in the country and ultimately for the whole South Vietnamese population."

Less than two weeks before President Nixon's scheduled Midway Island meeting with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu, Lam declined to comment on reports of differences between the two allied governments.

The Saigon government is believed to have expressed misgivings over Nixon's May 14 offer to negotiate "agreed procedures" under which the National Liberation Front could take part in elections in South Vietnam.

Woman Dies; Rule Suicide In Shooting

Mrs. Carolyn Lee Walkington, 26, of 2245 East Broadway, died at Bothwell Hospital at 8:55 a.m. Tuesday from a shotgun wound she received in her home sometime early Monday morning.

Police have determined that the wound was self-inflicted, after lengthy questioning of her husband, Robert Walkington, concerning the circumstances surrounding the shooting. The investigation led to Jefferson City Monday afternoon where Walkington was given various tests before he was cleared of any implication in the shooting.

A thorough search of the premises Monday turned up several notes indicating Mrs. Walkington intended to take her own life, officials revealed.

Walkington told police his wife had retired about 9 p.m. Sunday and the next thing he heard from her was a call about 3:30 a.m. She was found on the dining room floor with the gun beside her.

U.S. Accuses Vietnamese Of Violations from DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command charged North Vietnam today with more than 5,000 violations of the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam since the bombing halt last Nov. 1.

The American Command said U.S. forces were shelled four times Sunday from the buffer zone. In one attack eight Marines were killed and 24 wounded, the largest number of Americans killed by a rocket and mortar attack along the northern frontier since American bombing of North Vietnam was halted almost seven months ago.

The Marines were about 400 yards south of the DMZ when their position was hit by five mortar rounds. A U.S. spokesman said the mortars set off some of the Marines' ammunition, and this apparently caused some of the casualties.

—Bond financing for major capital improvements, similar to the funding arrangement now held by the Tennessee Valley Authority —Establishment of a commission of experts to propose changes in mail classifications and postage rates, subject to review by the seven presidentially appointed members of the nine-man board.

Much of what the President recommended was leaked by congressional sources last week.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount held a White House briefing today on the plans.

President Nixon and Blount appeared together before reporters at the briefing and both made comments on the Nixon message to Congress.

Nixon said all nine directors would be chosen "without regard to political affiliation."

Seven members including the chairman, would be appointed (See CHANGE, Page 4.)

Drug Case Hearings For Two

The seriousness of trafficking in drugs was pointed out by Judge Frank Armstrong in Magistrate Court Tuesday morning when he refused to lower bonds for two men so charged.

The bonds had been previously set at $10,000 for Joe (Skip) Sisemore, Route 3, and Robert Maudlin, Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, both facing drug charges. They appeared in Magistrate Court Tuesday for preliminary hearing, after which Henry Keeler, prosecuting attorney, indicated he would not object if the bonds were lowered to $5,000. Both defense attorneys indicated they had no objections, but the judge did — he retained the bonds at $10,000 and explained that if either defendant so desired, he could appeal to Circuit Court.

William F. Brown is representing Sisemore and Austin Shute of Kansas City is representing Maudlin. It was agreed to hold the preliminary hearings separately, as the circumstances are separate.

The hearing for Sisemore, on a charge of unlawful possession, transportation and sale of the hallucinogenic drug LSD on Feb. 18, in Pettis County, was held first.

In this hearing Keeler called as witnesses Arnold M. Dreyer, Kansas City, an investigator for the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, and Mrs. Donald Bailey, Overland Park, Kan., a chemist for the Food and Drug Administration in Kansas City.

Dreyer testified that he had met Sisemore in Sedalia on Feb. 18, and had purchased six tablets at $5 each from Sisemore. He said the sale took place in Sedalia.

Mrs. Bailey testified that she was the chemist who received the tablets from Dreyer, and that she had analyzed one of the tablets and determined it contained the drug LSD.

After a considerable amount of questioning, Judge Armstrong bound the case over to Circuit Court for trial.

No Director For United Fund Drive

The 1969-70 United Fund campaign in Pettis County will be carried out without a full-time director, as in past years.

That decision was reached at a United Fund board meeting, at which Harry Walch, president, reported that no qualified person had been found for the post.

The director is paid $6,000 a year, but the board was prepared to go to $7,200 "for the right person," according to Walch. He added that there were no local applicants for the post, and said other persons interviewed were not interested in the job at the present salary level.

The campaign director is expected to devote full time to the United Fund drive, and is considered one of the key positions in the effort. Walch expressed the hope that the drive would be a success even without a director.

"With each citizen of Pettis County accepting their responsibility by not only giving, but by actively soliciting for the campaign, we hope for a successful campaign," Walch said.

The 1969-70 United Fund campaign goal is $84,000, up from the $80,000 goal last year. In last year's campaign $83,000 was collected, the first time in nearly a decade that the goal had been reached or exceeded.

Preliminary Tax Survey Completed by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has finished a preliminary study on ways to tighten the federal tax laws applying to the very wealthy, foundations and corporations.

The progress report, due for release today, comes after five weeks of study by the committee, which is engaged in drafting an over-all reform of the nation's tax code.

The progress report, was expected to propose taxation and strict policing of foundations; limits on charitable deductions; a ceiling on the claiming of farm losses; reduction of tax incentives for corporate mergers and restrictions on the device of reducing corporate taxes by use of subsidiaries.

No final decisions have been made on these issues and they will be considered at another round of closed-door deliberations.

But it is the practice not to order legislative drafts until there has been a substantial, even if informal, meeting of minds on the tax-writing committee.

President Nixon proposed some tax crackdowns April 21 in urging extension of the 10 per cent income surtax after June 30. He said administration proposals for a more complete overhaul wouldn't come until later in the year.

The committee had been waiting impatiently for Nixon's tax message so it could get started on reforms.

"There is a momentum for change," declared Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills after Nixon's message. He said the committee gladly accepted Nixon's suggestions, but would push on immediately toward a complete overhaul.

To Talk With Board On Rights Complaint

A representative of the Missouri Commission on Human Rights will attend an open meeting of the Sedalia school board June 10 to lay before the board the commission's complaint alleging racial discrimination in the Sedalia school system.

Richard Risk, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, told The Democrat that Harold Whitfield, acting director of conciliation, would attend the meeting.

The open meeting date was set after local school officials refused to call a closed meeting to discuss the complaint with Human Rights Commission members. Risk said Tuesday that the commission is bound by law to seek confidential conciliation, but will meet in open session if the respondent so desires.

Risk said the provision for a closed meeting is designed to protect confidences and "allow everyone to speak their minds." He said statements made under such conditions cannot be used as grounds for legal action later.

In reference to the scheduled June 10 meeting, Risk said, "Our hope would be that the school board would show leadership in remedying the illegal discrimination."

The state complaint alleges racial discrimination in the assignment of pupils and teachers to Hubbard School.

Should the commission be unable to conciliate the complaint, the next step would be a public hearing, Risk stated. He said that the state attorney general would assume jurisdiction at this point, with the hearing conducted before three commissioners of the Human Rights Commission.

Stressing his hope that conciliation could be achieved, in which he said the commission has a "good record," Risk emphasized that the commission bears "no animosity" toward the school board and school officials, but is merely carrying out state laws.

The meeting June 10, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the school board office at Smith-Cotton High School.

Hero's Welcome Waiting For Apollo 10 Crewmen

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts returned home today to a hero's welcome and to make the reports that will determine when man will go to the moon this year.

As a band piped them in with "Up, Up and Away" and "Deep in the Heart of Texas" the three men who returned from the moon just 24 hours earlier, leaped from the plane that brought them nonstop from Samoa.

The astronauts, Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. Eugene Cernan and John Young, were wearing leis. Their first act, after embracing their wives and children, was to drape the necklaces around their loved ones' necks.

What the astronauts report will determine when the Apollo 11 astronauts leave on a moon-landing mission. The blastoff for that voyage is scheduled at Cape Kennedy July 16, but space agency officials said Apollo 10 raised a few questions that could delay it a month or two.

Still wearing one of the baseball caps the astronauts received when they boarded the carrier Princeton, Young told the crowd:

"That moon doesn't have any air and that moon's not Texas and we're sure glad to be here." Stafford said "It's really great ... it's fantastic to be back from the moon."

And Cernan said: "I'm convinced now more than ever that there's no place we can't eventually go and there's nothing we can't eventually do."

There was little time for reunion with families. After lunch, the astronauts were to undergo extensive physical examinations.

The astronauts' flight from Pago Pago in the Pacific took exactly 12 hours. They landed at Ellington AFB, near the Manned Spacecraft Center.

In the window of their plane, a C141 Starlifter, was a picture of the comic strip dog "Snoopy," the name the astronauts gave to the fragile little moon ferry that took Stafford and Cernan to 9.4 miles over the moon's surface Thursday.

The cone-shaped command capsule carrying the Apollo 10 trio parachuted into the Pacific Monda, climaxing eight days in space that one space agency official said had "given us the confidence to make the next bold step."

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said, "The real goal of the space program is to develop and demonstrate the capability for interplanetary travel."

Apollo 10 landed less than three miles from the main recovery ship, the carrier Princeton. Television cameras

Special Gift

Members of the Pattonville High School graduating class (St. Louis) departed from giving the usual class cup to the school and instead gave a parting gift of blood to the community. The Red Cross sent a bus unit to the school and 40 pints of blood were collected from as many seniors and donated to the blood bank. Mrs. Thomas Murphy, left, has smile for grimacing student Pat Plackmeyer. (UPI)

Republican Women Meet For Luncheon

The Pettis County Republican Women's Club met May 20 for a noon luncheon at the Pacific Cafe.

Miss Hazel Palmer reported on her trip to Washington, D.C. to a banquet honoring Mrs. Richard Nixon and daughters, Patricia and Mrs. David (Julia) Eisenhower held Wednesday, April 16, at the Sheraton Park Hotel. President Nixon attended and spoke.

Mrs. Fred G. Rose reported on the supper honoring Vice-President and Mrs. Spiro Agnew. This supper meeting, she said, like all other functions, was overflowing and crowds had to be accommodated in several banquet rooms.

One of the high spots in the entertainment, Mrs. Rose stated, was by "Up With the People", a singing group. Mrs. Rose also reported on a tea held at the White House, where Mrs. Nixon was hostess to the Federation of Republican Women in the city.

Tuesday morning and all day Wednesday, Mrs. Rose reported, were devoted to speeches by cabinet members and other high ranking people in the administration.

Mrs. Willeta Dempsey reported on the coffee honoring Mrs. Agnew and the wives of the cabinet members.

A short business meeting was held.

Mrs. Ida Harriman was one of the 15-year members recognized at an earlier meeting.

Graduate Candidate Receives Scholarship

CALIFORNIA — Daniel F. McGrath, III, has been named this year's Moniteau County high school graduate to receive the Moran E. and Anna O. Howard Scholarship fund to the University of Missouri, Columbia.

The scholarship is made possible by contributions from Bailey K. Howard, president of Field Enterprises, Inc., Chicago, in memory of his parents, Moran E. and Anna O. Howard, former Moniteau County residents.

Attend Meeting Of Scout Directors

Mrs. Orrin C. Smith and Mrs. Robert Fingland attended the Heart of Missouri Girl Scout board of directors meeting May 21 in Jefferson City.

At the meeting policies and plans for the Girl Scout Council were formulated.

Presentation of a plan to build a new all-season Girl Scout lodge at Camp Sacajawea in Sedalia was made by Mrs. Smith. The plan received approval from the board members present.

Baldy Long Gone

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) Six persons suffered minor injuries recently when someone's wig fell onto the tracks of a small roller coaster, jamming the wheels of a car which was then rammed by a following car. No one claimed the hairpiece.

Richard Bahner, son of Mrs. Hugo Bahner, 1611 West 16th has been chosen to represent Sacred Heart High School at Missouri Boys State June 15-22 at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. Richard, sponsored by the American Legion Post 16, is active in athletics, student council, and letterman's club, and is president of the S-H junior class.

Sacred Heart's Baccalaureate Services Set

Sacred Heart's Baccalaureate services will be held in connection with the 11 a.m. Mass at Sacred Heart Church Sunday.

Fr. Ronald Hoenninger will officiate. Immediately following a breakfast for graduates will be served in the cafeteria.

Commencement exercises will be held Sunday evening in the gymnasium, beginning at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Charles Pfeiffer will give the invocation. The Rev. William Miller will be master of ceremonies and the Rev. Andrew Brunswick will lead the benediction.

The graduation address will be presented by the Rev. Ronald Wilson, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

Awards assembly for graduates and underclassmen will also be held at this time.

Historical Society Opens New Museum

The historical society of Camden County recently fulfilled its plans for a county museum.

The museum, dealing mostly with local items pertaining to early Camden County settlers, is located on the main street of Linn Creek, one-half block from U.S. Highway 54.

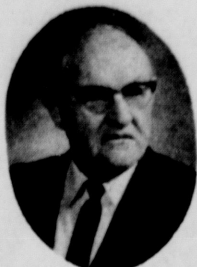

It is open daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Reparation Demand Is Rejected

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The General Board of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) rejected today a demand by Black Militants that the nation's church pay $500 million in reparations for past wrongs to minority groups.

The 250-member board passed a lengthy document calling for new church efforts aimed at curing "the deep sickness of the spirit which characterizes our common life and threatens the democratic institutions of our society."

The board, meeting in St. Louis, said the manifesto adopted by the National Economic Development Committee "contains language which we feel is excessive and inflammatory, an ideology we cannot accept, and a methodology we cannot approve."

The paper acknowledged this nation has a history of violence, separatism, racism, extortion, and revenge, but affirmed a new initiative by the church aimed at curbing these evils.

The paper, adopted almost unanimously on a voice vote will go before the General Assembly of the 1.5-million-member church at its meeting in Seattle in August.

The paper recommended all church units redeploy 10 per cent of their operating and capital funds in the early 1970 to help deal with the urban crisis. It further recommended that units with portfolios divert 15 per cent of their investment funds to institutions that engage in loans to the poor.

Other proposals included doubling the Christian church's Reconciliation Program to help meet the needs of the urban poor. That two-year program would be expanded to four years and the church's present $2 million fund-raising goal would be doubled.

The message also called upon the church to develop a multi-racial staff with 20 per cent Negro representation by the mid 1970s.

City License Office Open On Saturday

In view of the June 2 deadline for purchasing various Sedalia city licenses, Mrs. Opal Hugelmann, collector, has decided to keep her office open Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until noon.

Mrs. Hugelmann made the decision after noting license sales are somewhat lower than usual at this late date. "There must be a lot of people who do not realize the deadline is approaching. We will keep the office open for their convenience," she added.

Statistics on licenses show that as of Tuesday morning there have been 3,083 car licenses, 472 truck licenses, 56 motorcycle licenses and 252 dog tags issued this year.

The collector also reminded those concerned that merchants licenses are also due and payable June 2.

Freshman From MVC Is Drowning Victim

BLACKWATER, Mo. (AP) — Michael Anthony Armstrong, 19, of Kansas City, a freshman at Missouri Valley College in Marshall, drowned Monday in a quarry three miles east of Blackwater.

He was a brother of Warren Armstrong, former Wichita University basketball player who was named rookie of the year this season in the American Basketball Association as a member of the Oakland Oaks team.

Michael and 14 other students were swimming at the quarry. College officials said Armstrong and two others swam across the pond. When Armstrong reached for a rock to pull himself out, his hand slipped and he went under.

Rescue divers from Columbia found the body two hours later. They said the water was 60 feet deep.

Man is Killed In an Accident On Highway 20

SWEET SPRINGS—William Opfer, 28, Kansas City, was killed Monday night when his car went out of control and overturned on Highway 20, about eight miles north of here.

The highway patrol said the accident was caused by a tire blow-out. Opfer was alone.

He was dead on arrival at Sweet Springs Community Hospital.

He was born May 11, 1941, at Blackburn, son of Arnold Opfer and the late Ethel Opfer.

Mr. Opfer had worked as a postal clerk in Kansas City for the past nine years.

He was a member of St. Paul's United Church of Christ, Blackburn, and the United Federated Postal Employees Union, Kansas City.

Surviving are his father of the home; two brothers, Arnold Opfer, Jr., and Granville Opfer, both of Kansas City, and a sister, Mrs. Virginia Wackerman, Raytown.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the church.

Burial will be in Blackburn Cemetery.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at the Miller Funeral Home, Blackburn.

Welcome

relayed the scene live to the United States and Europe. Splashdown was at 12:52 p.m. EDT. In one of the fastest recoveries in the U.S. space program, a helicopter deposited the astronauts on the deck of the carrier 39 minutes later.

The astronauts, who became the first men to shave in space the day before, seemed elated as they stepped onto a red carpet rolled across the deck. They danced exuberant little jigs as they headed for sick bay and medical examination.

Doctors reported they were in excellent physical condition.

President Nixon, by radiotelephone from Washington, told them, "This is a proud moment for the country." He invited the trio and their families to the White House for dinner at a date to be set later. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew also telephoned congratulations.

After nearly six hours on the carrier they flew by helicopter to a warm welcome at Pago Pago on American Samoa.

Then the astronauts boarded a C141 Starlifter for the flight back to the United States.

Specialists were ready to start debriefings almost immediately. They want Stafford, Young and Cernan to recall in detail everything about the mission—the lift-off May 18, the 76-hour coast out to the moon, the 2½ days in lunar orbit and the 54-hour return trip.

Emphasis will be on the critical eight hours when Stafford and Cernan left the command ship in a little moon lander, known as the LEM, twice swooping to within 9.4 miles of the surface to photograph and inspect the landing site picked for Apollo 11.

They rehearsed every procedure for a moon landing except the touchdown itself. They reported that astronauts would find landing room at the site, located in the Sea of Tranquility, if their approach was accurate enough to avoid large boulders and craters near the area.

On June 2, the Apollo 11 crew will meet with the Apollo 11 astronauts, civilian Neil A. Armstrong, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins. Armstrong and Aldrin are to land on the moon while Collins remains in moon orbit aboard the command ship.

NASA Administrator Paine told a news conference Monday, "Today with the Apollo crew safely on board the USS Princeton, we know we can get to the moon. Tom Stafford, John Young and Eugene Cernan have given us the final confidence to make the next bold step."

He noted that the present launch date for Apollo 11 is July 16, with the landing set for July 20.

"However," he cautioned "we have no inflexible commitment to these specific dates. We will not hesitate to postpone the Apollo 11 mission if we feel we are not ready in all respects. And once that voyage has begun, we have no commitment that would make us hesitate to bring home the crew immediately if we encounter problems."

"The Apollo 10 crew are the pioneers who have brought man to the threshold of a new era. Today we see no obstacles on the path to the moon," he added.

George Low, manager of the Apollo spacecraft office, listed these areas of concern about the Apollo 10 flight:

—Poor communications with the LEM during the first low pass over the moon.

—Telemetry data showed that the LEM lost cabin pressure after it was unmanned, pushed away from the command ship and sent rocketing off into space. If loss of pressure happened with astronauts aboard the LEM, they would be protect-

Rocky Starts Second Leg Of His Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York left today on the second leg of a fact-finding tour of Latin America for President Nixon.

Before leaving, Rockefeller met with Nixon at the White House and afterward he expressed regret that political problems forced cancellation of his scheduled visit to Peru this week.

"These problems are the result of a breakdown in communications just when communications are most needed," Rockefeller told a news conference at the White House.

Peru, reacting angrily to a suspension of military sales by the United States, said a Rockefeller visit would not be welcome.

Rockefeller, who visited Mexico and Central America in the first of his series of trips earlier this month, flew to Colombia today, the first stop of a five-country swing. Also on his schedule are Ecuador, Bolivia, Trinidad-Tobago and Venezuela.

At the White House news briefing, Rockefeller said he talked with the President about the growing interdependence among Western Hemisphere nations in such areas as trade, economics, technology and social development.

"The President feels it is terribly important we come to know and understand one another so we can take maximum advantage of our interdependence," Rockefeller said.

Hearings

Sisemore is free after meeting the $10,000 bail.

Maudlin waived his right to a preliminary hearing and his case was also bound over to Circuit Court for trial. After failing to meet his $10,000 bail he was returned to jail.

Maudlin is charged with unlawful possession, sale and transportation of narcotics and hallucinogenic drugs, LSD, marijuana and hashish on Feb. 29, in Pettis County.

Sisemore was arrested in Sedalia April 30, by Sheriff Emmett Fairfax and Deputy Don Stratton.

Maudlin was arrested early May 1 in Kansas City by Sheriff Fairfax and Deputy Orval Lewis, accompanied by a member of the Kansas City Police Department's drug division and three members of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

According to the Sheriff, Maudlin had LSD tablets on his person when arrested.

At the present time, the earth's climate is far more rigorous and marked by greater extremes of heat and cold than it has been for the last 500 million years.

$25,000 for injuries received in the accident, and Charles McGaugh is asking $5,000 for medical expenses and loss of companionship and services.

The front of the Cadillac and the right side of the Chrysler were damaged in the accident.

A two-car accident occurred at the intersection of Fifth and Summit at 12:11 p.m. Monday.

Involved were a 1961 Cadillac driven east on Fifth by Edward O. Woolery, 18, 503 West Heard, and a 1962 Chrysler driven south on Summit by Lloyd J. Finney, 19, LaMonte.

The front of the Cadillac and the right side of the Chrysler were damaged in the accident.

by the President, and would require Senate confirmation. These seven would then select "a full time chief executive officer who will join with the seven others to select a full time executive who will also serve on the board," Nixon said.

The President said the reform proposal has been under consideration for the past several weeks, and he described it as "the most significant reform bill" that will be sent Congress under his administration.

He said such a reorganization is "an urgent national requirement" and the only way to forestall either massive postal deficits or huge rate increases.

Noting that the department has had deficits for 114 of the last 131 years, Nixon said, "the money to meet these huge postal deficits comes directly out of the taxpayers' pocket regardless of how much he uses the mails."

It is bad business, bad government, and bad politics to pour this kind of money into an inefficient postal service," Nixon said.

The President emphasized that the reforms could be put into effect without a reduction in the postal system's 750,000 employees.

But without a modernized system, he said, more than 250,000 new workers will be needed to "move the growing mountain of mail" over the next decade.

The proposed steps include a provision to give employees the right to negotiate with management over wages and working conditions, and Blount said he had discussed this feature with the various postal unions.

"While they haven't formally endorsed it (the reform bill)," Blount said, "we did have very fruitful discussions."

The provision, he added, calls for "a fair and impartial mechanism" to resolve negotiating stalemates and disputes arising under labor agreements. He said it also retains a prohibition on strikes, but has a provision for binding arbitration by an impartial three-man board of experts.

Blount noted that he already has discussed the reform proposal with both Democrat and Republican congressmen and said he received a "very good reception" to the plan.

Escapee Is Caught With Three Helpers

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Four youths were captured Monday about nine hours after three of them helped the fourth escape from the Missouri Training School for Boys.

The three drove through the school area, picked up the inmate and sped away.

Police and highway patrolmen chased the car at high speeds. Finally a patrol car crashed into the rear of the car and it burst into flames.

The boys jumped out and disappeared in the brush. They were found a mile east of the Lamine River bridge on Missouri 41.

Ann Landers

'Missed Point' Says Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: It's obvious that you are on the first marriage and so is your husband. Otherwise you would not have given that stupid answer to the woman who asked, "How much time does a man owe his ex-wife?" (Your reply: "As much time as he wants to give her" was terrible.)

Only a second wife can know how conviving a first wife can be. My husband's ex is an authentic genius at keeping him involved in her life. The children are the perfect foil and she uses them most effectively by playing on his guilt.

Here's how it works: Wife One subtly suggests that it would be "nice" if Daddy saw Lucy in the school pageant. And, of course, Johnny would just love it if Daddy watched him play Little League baseball. Naturally Mary would be thrilled if Daddy came to her piano recital. The ex-wife goes to every one of these events, you can be sure.

My husband is expected to be present at birthday parties, confirmations, graduations, tonsilleotomies, appendectomies, bone-sets and tooth extractions. He is notified immediately of any and all accidents. (Falling off a bike is an accident.)

I wonder what these women would do if their former husbands were dead, or living in a foreign country? They'd manage, wouldn't they? Please change your advice. Life is rough for a second wife without a sock in the jaw from Ann Landers. — S.T.A.

Dear S.T.A.: You missed the point, dearie — as did hundreds of other second wives who wrote to complain. I still say it's up to the husband to decide how much time he wants to devote to his first family. If Number Two Wife is wise she'll accept his decision because in the final analysis he's going to do what he wants, regardless. Any show of resentment on her part will be interpreted as jealousy and she winds up looking like a shrew.

A man may be able to divorce himself from a wife but most men cannot divorce themselves from their children — if they're decent, that is.

Dear Ann Landers: I have never seen my problem in your column yet I can't believe I'm the only one in the world who has it.

I have a neighbor who can't bear to waste anything. At least once a week she runs over here with her leftover roast, leftover puddings and almost always it is half burned and three days old. Yesterday she presented me with six skinny crabs in a fifteen gallon crock. I threw the crabs out the minute she left. While I was scouring the crock it suddenly dawned on me that she brings leftovers so I will clean her pots and pans.

This woman is lovely in other ways but I am sick of slaving over her containers in exchange for garbage our dog won't eat. Any suggestions? — Skullery Maid

Dear Skull: The next time Gertrude Goodhart arrives with her offerings tell her you are loaded with leftovers of your own and to please give hers to someone else. Under no circumstances should you allow the lady to leave anything. After she carries her garbage home two or three times she'll get the message.

Drinking may be "in" to the kids you run with — but it can put you "out" for keeps. You can cool it and stay popular. Read "Booze And You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Miss Dianne Draisey, R.N., county health nurse, processes pupils at Sacred Heart Grade School during a recent inoculation clinic held there.

Pupils Get Inoculated Under County Program

A total of 1,127 grade school children in Pettis County have been immunized against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and polio under a recently completed school health program for the county.

Jointly run by the Pettis County Nursing Service Council and the Medical Advisory Board, the immunization program reached grade school children in the county schools and public and parochial schools in Sedalia.

Assisted by volunteer mothers, health officials provided three clinics for each of the schools, with a Sedalia physician at each clinic. Shot records were reviewed and permission obtained from parents to provide needed vaccinations.

The smallpox, diphtheria and tetanus vaccines were provided by the State Division of Health through the Pettis County Nursing Service. The oral polio vaccine was purchased by the Pettis County Nursing Service and the Polio Foundation.

Slovak Cousin Is Proud Of Astronaut's Journey

VYSOKA NAD KYSUCOU, Czechoslovakia (AP) — "They have returned to our planet. Let's drink to our cosmonauts... our cosmonauts," the husky Slovak said, raising a glass of brandy.

Imrich Cernan, cousin of American astronaut Eugene Cernan, proposed the toast in a darkened room full of Slovaks.

They were crowded around a television screen so small it needed a magnifying glass to enlarge the flickering image of Apollo 10 brought from the Pacific by satellite, Eurovision and Czechoslovak TV.

By "our cosmonauts" Imrich meant Eugene A. Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young.

Especially Cernan. The Navy commander is a hero to this town of his forebears and its citizens are hoping he will visit them.

Waiting for the astronauts to be fished out of the ocean, Imrich said: "They're sure to be drinking to each other's health right now. They've got a tape recorder and recordings and spaghetti in there, surely they must have a bottle of something to drink."

The three astronauts appeared clearly on the screen aboard the recovery ship Princeton a few minutes later. Children in the crowded room said, "There's Cernan on the left. There's Stafford. There's Young."

Imrich, 38, is of the same generation as his 35-year-old second cousin. They are great-grandsons of the late Andrew Cernan of Vysoka.

Two of Andrew's four sons emigrated to America about 1900. One of them was the astronaut's grandfather, Stegan.

"Now more and more people here claim to be related to our Gene," said Imrich.

Three families of Cernan cousins can be found in this town of stucco and log houses lining the meandering Kysucou River on the eastern slope of the mountain range that divides Slovakia and Moravia, 250 miles east of Prague.

The population of Vysoka is 4,600, predominantly Catholic with a sprinkling of nonbelievers and Communists.

"We lit candles and prayed for the cosmonauts in the church last Sunday. It was our duty," said Imrich's mother, Katarina Cernanova, a sturdy woman of 54.

Imrich once served in the Czechoslovak Air Force and worked for the city government until the Stalinists ousted him in the early 1960s, he said. The father of a daughter 11 and a son 18 months old, he now helps his parents at the family sawmill.

The sawmill was closed in 1948, when the Communists took over Czechoslovakia, but family members said they were allowed to open it last year during the period of liberalization, provided that 30 per cent of the profits were turned over to the local government.

Another cousin, Mrs. Maria Kubackova, made contact with the American side of the family. Hearing about the astronaut named Cernan, she wrote to the space center 2½ years ago. Since then, she has received letters and Christmas cards from Eugene, his wife, and his father, who died a year ago.

Mrs. Kubackova sat silently before the television screen during the splashdown of Apollo 10. Then she sighed and said, "Now Eugene, his wife and daughter will be able to sleep well tonight."

consideration means so much

Many fine funeral firms have excellent facilities and complete services, just as Heckart-Gillespie does. But what makes it stand out over all others is the personal consideration given the individual needs and wishes of each family it serves. It means so much in making each service, regardless of size or circumstance, one of gratifying satisfaction. It is why so many families prefer Heckart-Gillespie over all others.

Time to Honor Pledge—

The revolts taking place on the nation's campuses are a "symptom of the serious moral duplicity in our history and culture as well as the perversion of values in our society," says a psychiatrist.

The students are wise to the "say one thing and do another" attitude that pervades society, says Dr. Charles de Leon, assistant professor of psychiatry at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

"They know that two of our greatest heroes, George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, their flowery rhetoric about democracy and justice notwithstanding, were simple slaveowners."

This is, to be sure, a fact of history. But before anyone condemns the American experiment as a monumental sham and colossal fraud, perhaps we may be permitted to ask a silly question.

If Presidents Washington and Jefferson were slaveowners, why is not President Richard Nixon a slaveowner?

Perhaps it is because Nixon is a Quaker, as was Benjamin Franklin, who spent the last years of his life vainly petitioning Congress to abolish slavery.

Well, then, why is not former President Lyndon B. Johnson, a southerner, a slaveowner?

Perhaps it is because the Industrial Revolution has simply made slavery impractical today. But slavery was abolished long before farming was mechanized.

The answer is, of course, that eight decades after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, with its "flowery rhetoric," the American people could no longer tolerate the existence of an institution so contrary to the ideals on which the nation was founded. They could solve the contradiction no other way but fight a Civil War.

"In that war more than 600,000 men died," writes Mary Joan White in the Wall Street Journal. "Legal slavery also died. Whether slavery could have been abolished short of war is questionable, but it is certain that the methods employed by the radicals stirred public passions to the point that leaders who tried to work through to a peaceable, just solution were cut off.

"Nor did the fearful price buy true freedom for the Negro. The nation has not finished with the bitterness, political division and racial injustice that survived the war.

"Instead of sectional lines, racial and generational lines are being drawn today. Militant blacks and radical youth are attacking the problems of an admittedly imperfect society in terms of moral issues and with any means at hand...

"In their attitudes and strategy, the young radicals and black militants are the direct descendants of both the abolitionists and the southern radicals, an uneasy mix surely. Like the abolitionists, they have a rather arrogant assurance that they are so right, that they are above the law in their choice of means to their ends. Like the southern radicals, they are so committed to their own view of the issues that they insist on being allowed to rule or ruin the system. Their attitude and more extreme methods are absolutely totalitarian."

Benjamin Franklin detested the compromise with slavery written into the Constitution, but he believed that one, united nation, even with slavery, held more hope for the future of mankind than a collection of sovereign, bickering states.

Washington and Jefferson, too, had qualms about slavery, but they were products of their environment (the South), even as Franklin was the product of his (the North).

Should we scorn Washington and Jefferson as "simple slaveowners," or should we not bless them and all the others who "brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal" — even if that liberty and that equality are still imperfectly realized?

Shall we declare another civil war between the generations and the races, or shall we not grant a measure of good will to all sides and all factions and attempt to reason together?

Hope for Troop Movement This Year

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — President Nixon has confided to Republican congressional leaders that he would like to begin withdrawing American troops from Vietnam and replacing them with South Vietnamese troops this year. But he would like the proposal to come from Saigon.

"It would be better to let the idea come from Thieu and Ky," he said, referring to South Vietnam's president and vice president.

Meanwhile the Rand Corporation and Hudson Institute, two of the nation's biggest policy planners, have drafted detailed projections for an American withdrawal.

The Paris negotiators are dramatically close to a military settlement. The big obstacle, which may hold up a peace for months, will be a political settlement. The search for a political strategy, more than anything else, is what is bringing President Nixon and President Thieu to Midway Island for their June 8 mid-Pacific meeting.

The President denied press reports that resistance from our South Vietnamese allies had precipitated the meeting. Relations between Washington and Saigon are better, he indicated, than at any time since the bombing halt.

In fact, he said, the South Vietnamese not only are willing to discuss a political settlement but are secretly studying a constitutional amendment which would permit Communists to vote in a national election. President Thieu would, however, also like an amendment to extend his presidential term from four to seven years.

Despite the optimistic outlook for a Vietnam settlement, Nixon repeated to GOP leaders that he is prepared for an about-face if the peace negotiations break down.

"It is important to note," he said sternly, "if we should be rebuffed we have other options."

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Announcement has been made that Wenner Bros., who already have one store in Sedalia, have bought the Williams Drug Store on the southwest corner of Fourth Street and Ohio avenue. The new store will be known as Wenner's No. 2. The other store is located at 119 South Ohio avenue.

—1929—
The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph W. Manker and family of Bethel, Kan., are visiting with Mrs. Manker's mother, Mrs. Emma Mitzel, 912 South Barrett avenue. They will attend commencement exercises at Smith-Cotton High School. Among the graduates are Misses Marie and Isabel Mitzel.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Awards and letters were presented and recognition given to outstanding students at Smith-Cotton High school during assembly. Betty Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Rowe, 1616 South Park avenue, was acclaimed the most outstanding Senior girl, and Don Lamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Lamm, 1303 South Osage avenue, the most outstanding Senior boy. Fred Hulse, now in service, was declared the most valuable athlete. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hulse, 720 West Broadway.

held up his peace proposals almost three weeks because of the Communist attacks and shellings of South Vietnamese cities.

"The decision to make the speech," he said, "was made on April 20."

He didn't want to try for peace while South Vietnamese cities were under Communist fire. It might have made it appear that he was reacting to military pressure.

White House national security adviser Henry Kissinger boasted to the GOP leaders that, outside of the Communist bloc, the President's proposals had received a favorable response everywhere except in Sweden.

"For the first time," he said, "the Japanese leaders supported the United States position on Vietnam. Even in Yugoslavia the reaction was moderately good."

Kissinger warned, however, that there will be no immediate response from Hanoi.

"It is going to take the Communists two or three months to revise their strategy," he predicted. "Only then can we see whether conciliation is going to work."

Hanoi is hard at work analyzing and discussing the Nixon offer. It takes "a long time" for Hanoi to change its policy directives, Kissinger added; even longer to carry out the new directives. He explained that Hanoi prepares for weeks for a military offensive or withdrawal, because both men and materials have to be infiltrated in small units.

Meanwhile Hanoi can be expected to repeat its routine demands for unconditional military withdrawal until new decisions are made.

—Nixon's Trustees—

Kendall has just written a letter to various fat cats on the stationery of his firm at 500 Park Avenue, soliciting funds for BIPAC. BIPAC, Business Industry Political Action Committee, is an organization of big business moguls dedicated to electing a more conservative congress in 1970. To this end Nixon's trustee Donald Kendall wrote to fellow businessmen:

"There will be a few special elections to fill vacant seats in Congress this year. Other than these, everything will 'seem to be quiet' on the national political front. However, the quiet is deceptive. Intensive plans are under way by political organizations involving next year's mid-term congressional elections, which can make or break an administration favorable to business."

"BIPAC is also making its plans for 1970. Its sights are set on protecting the gains made in the House and replacing enough senators to erase the liberal edge which has prevailed in the Senate since 1954. Its analysis of the outlook is very encouraging."

"However, Senate contests usually require a lot of money. BIPAC is aiming at a political action fund of $1 million so that it will be able to provide enough campaign help where it counts most. Therefore it is important for all BIPAC members to send in their annual dues this year as well as next, as all campaign support funds must come from individuals."

Kendall concluded by asking that funds be sent to Paul W. Kayser, who is both executive director of the National Alliance for Business and vice president of PepsiCo in charge of industrial relations.

Britain's Wilson: Symbol Of Tottering Socialism

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (NEA)

The plight of Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson is another indication of the decline in the political fortunes of the Socialist parties in most nations of West Europe and Asia.

Like the totalitarian "socialists" who rule in the Communist countries, the democratic socialists are discovering that even their brand of moderate Marxism cannot solve the problems or cure the ills that plague humanity in the nuclear age.

The bored offspring of the affluent middle class who seek the romance of revolution among the New Leftists and the Students for a Democratic Society regard the democratic socialists' addiction to freedom as a relic of the past. The Communists have long denounced them as "tools of capitalism."

Even London's liberal weekly, The Observer, is now calling for Wilson's resignation as prime minister and leader of the Labor party.

Yet only five years ago Wilson was hailed as a brilliant "young" leftist leader. He was going to nationalize Britain's banks and basic industries. He hoped to create a welfare state which, unlike the Communist version of socialism, would be based on democratic freedom and human decency.

Now he is denounced by the younger members of his own Labor party as a middle-aged failure who betrayed Marxist ideals.

Wilson's tragedy is, in a sense, also the tragedy of former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Humphrey. Like many politicians before him who promised the liberal millennium, he was confronted as prime minister with the complex realities of power in a free society.

The same realities that prompt the conservative President Nixon to veer to the liberal side in foreign policy and domestic affairs forced Wilson to discard many of his socialist illusions.

As an ambitious leftist politician reaching out for power, he could castigate U.S. foreign policy with impunity. But as prime minister he soon found that he had to rely on American economic and diplomatic support.

This forced Wilson to back the United States on the war in Vietnam. It was at all times a lukewarm support but it aroused the hostility of Labor's extreme leftists.

He also lost the backing of the labor unions when, in an effort to restore Britain's chaotic economy, he decided to introduce a bill in Parliament to curb wildcat strikes.

This time even moderate labor politicians were furious since the majority of them face defeat in the elections without trade union support.

Then, to add insult to injury, Wilson's government decided to raise the price of eyeglasses and false teeth under the National Health Service. The young Labor members of Parliament, the backbenchers, were quick to denounce this as treason to socialism. They have long regarded cheap eyeglasses and false teeth as one of the most vital achievements of the welfare state.

These, of course, are only some of the major reasons for Wilson's mounting difficulties. However, he is a skilled politician who has already weathered many storms. He can cling to power until the election in 1971. He may yet outwit his detractors in and out of the Labor party.

But his plight is symbolic of the troubles facing the anti-Communist socialists in France, Italy, West Germany, Japan and elsewhere in the free world. They, too, are engaged in an uphill struggle against new totalitarian forces on the left and right.

Even in the Scandinavian countries which they have ruled for decades with moderation and justice, the democratic socialists are fighting for their political life.

West's double of six no-trump was a typical bad rubber bridge bid. West didn't expect that South was going to make a slam against his hand but he should have been happy to pick up a small profit by setting his opponent undoubled.

He almost surely would have set the hand without the double. With the double he told South how to make his contract.

South won the heart lead and had no trouble counting 11 tricks. He could make the 12th by leading a diamond toward his king provided that East held the diamond ace. That would have been the normal way to play the hand but the double had marked the diamond ace in the West hand and it was up to South to find some other way to make 12 tricks.

It wasn't too difficult. South saw that a squeeze end play would develop almost automatically provided West held the jack and 10 of hearts in back of the queen that he had led.

There was no reason not to start by running off six clubs and discarding a spade and diamond from dummy. West had to make four discards and proceeded to jettison the eight of hearts, queen-six of diamonds and a spade.

Now South was sure that he had him in the vise. He ran off three spades and the unfortunate West had to throw away the jack of diamonds on the last spade.

South let the nine of hearts go from dummy. It had done its work and could be spared. Then South led his seven of diamonds. West had to take his ace and give South the last two tricks.

A Woman—Mainstay

Finding a topic isn't always easy for a speaker and if the organization involved has a theme-of-the-month, it sometimes makes life easier for him.

Naturally, some speakers have a set topic and use it many times. Two that I know about are a man who lectures on "How I Made a Million Dollars!" and a single girl who calls her talk, "Ten Ways to Lose Your Husband—and I'll Be Waiting for Him." For obvious reasons these two topics are out-of-bounds for me. But, because I usually find myself talking to women, it isn't difficult for me to know what is of interest to them—also for obvious reasons.

When I was asked to speak to the men of our local Kiwanis club, I was glad to have the chairman tell me their theme for the month was community service. When he told me in a helpful way that other speakers scheduled for the month included a senator and a superintendent of a large city school system, I almost backed out of the engagement.

After all, with a senator who has been out there legislating and a superintendent busily occupied with formulating and executing the educational plans for a metropolitan community, to tell the men about community service, well, what could a mere woman add to their store of knowledge?

It did occur to me that I might dig up statistics on the many hours women in our city had racked up in volunteer duties at hospitals or on fund drives. Without these women, the blood donor program would falter, many children and elderly persons now chauffeured to various activities and medical appointments would be left stranded, paperwork for countless programs would be left undone—well, the list seems endless.

Then I thought I might point out that women holding down paying jobs are also contributing to the community by the very fact that they do work outside their homes. I thought of asking the businessmen to close their eyes and try to envision how it would be—merely in the downtown area—if female employees walked off their jobs.

I almost took the coward's way out by making up a tidy little speech about how thankful I was for the way the Kiwanians had contributed to our city in the way of unpaid, after-business-hours service.

In the end, I stepped down from my pedestal and decided to talk to them from the individual citizen angle, as one woman, one mother.

I have served my community first by bearing five children, all of whom I send to public schools. I, along with other women, do some of the family banking, a big percentage of the shopping and most of the appointment-setting with dentists, doctors, dancing school teachers, etc. In the past year I have also called upon the street department, the dogcatcher and the police chief for help.

Think about it. If it weren't for people like me, not only would the gentlemen have a lot of time they now spend on community service on their hands, but half of them would be out of jobs.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Drive on Country Roads With Caution in Rain

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Many families will want to use their summer vacation to drive over scenic rural roads. This is an excellent idea if you bear in mind that, in contrast to our superhighways, these rural roads are likely to be pocked with chuckholes and to have narrow bridges, sudden sharp curves, unmarked intersections and warning signs obscured by tall weeds. All of these hazards call for greatly reduced speed if you wish to avoid an accident. Remember, too, that you will probably be much farther from a hospital than when you are driving in the city.

Sudden cloudbursts are another danger. During such a storm, it is wise to pull off the road and wait it out with your parking lights on.

If you are driving in a heavy rain visibility is limited not only for you but also for cars approaching you and any pedestrians you may meet. Since a car approaching at high speed may splash your windshield and make it impossible for you to see for a few seconds you should slow down before the car passes you. Also keep the window next to you closed so that the platter won't get in your eyes. And don't neglect to see that your windshield wipers are new enough to do their intended job.

When traveling on a rainy day, you should drive as though you had no brakes. In that way you will be less likely to jam them on suddenly and go into a skid. Furthermore, if your brakes have gotten wet, you may not have the braking power you thought you had.

Q — How long can one live with macroglobulinemia? Is there any cure for it?

A — An increase in the amount of macroglobulin in the blood may be associated with chronic infections, cirrhosis of the liver, scleroderma and other collagen diseases and some forms of cancer. The prognosis and the possibility of a cure would depend on the cause.

Q — In a recent column you said that Gantanol should not be taken by persons with kidney diseases. This drug was prescribed for me two years ago for a kidney ailment. Please comment.

A — This sulfa drug is used to combat certain infections, including those of the kidney pelvis. If, however, there is any damage to the kidney proper the drug must be used with caution — frequent checks to make sure there is no interference with kidney function.

Solar System Exploration Target

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — After the moon, the whole solar system. That, says the director of America's space program, is the long-range goal. And Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, believes the conquest of earth's fellow planets will prove to be "reasonably straightforward."

"While the moon has been the focus of our efforts," Paine told a news conference Monday, "the true goal is far more than being the first to land men on the moon, as though it were a celestial Mt. Everest to be climbed."

"The real goal is to develop and demonstrate the capability for interplanetary travel." Paine said the space program was "providing the most exciting possible answer to the age-old question of whether life as we know it on earth can exist on the moon and the planets," and he declared:

"The answer is yes. Men working together with modern science and technology can extend the domain of terrestrial life throughout the solar system."

Asked when he believes interplanetary travel will be possible — and which would be the first planets explored — Paine replied:

"It's too early to really make much of a speculation on that at the present time. There are many, many different problems that would have to be faced before we'd be ready to make a commitment — make an estimate as to the timing."

"I think, however, that the demonstration of the capability to reach the moon, to land men on the moon, have them walk on the surface and do useful work, are certainly the clear first steps — after which the other steps, I think, will be reasonably straightforward."

Guardsmen Quit Duty Tour, But Stay on Call

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — National Guardsmen pulled out of Lincoln University Monday but were ordered to remain available for quick recall.

Maj. Gen. L. B. Adams, Missouri Adjutant General, said he and Col. E. I. Hockaday, superintendent of the highway patrol, agreed to relieve the 224 Guardsmen of their duties at the university where they had been stationed for the past week following an outbreak of fires and shooting last Monday.

That left about 150 state troopers to police the tense campus as final examinations began for undergraduates.

The reward for conviction of those involved in the fires, meanwhile, climbed to $1,900 with the News-Tribune Publishing Co. of Jefferson City offering $500 over the weekend.

A faculty group is reported trying to add to the fund also. It was started by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes last Tuesday when he offered $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for setting fires that caused nearly $500,000 damage. Minority Republican members of the House followed suit and matched the chief executive's offer. That was increased by two St. Louis men who offered $200 each.

Tiger Unanimous Choice; Benvenuti Breaks Hand

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger's upset victory over middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti turned slightly sour when it was learned the Italian had suffered a broken right hand. But there were lucrative fights ahead for both winner and loser today.

"I broke the hand in the first round when I hit him high on the head. The pain was terrible," said Benvenuti after dropping a unanimous decision in a 10-round nontitle bout with the 39-year-old Biafran at Madison Square Garden Monday night. "I was a one-handed fighter

St. Louis got shut out by Phil Niekro and Washington got blasted by Rod Carew. But baseball's biggest loser Monday night was Atlanta's Indian mascot, Chief Nok-A-Homa.

Niekro, the Braves' knuckleballer, blanked the Cards 3-0 and Carew's two home runs led Minnesota to a 7-1 romp over the Senators. Nok-A-Homa had a rougher time than both losers though.

He got burned out of his tepee.

Nok-A-Homa, the Injun who camps behind the left field fence in Atlanta Stadium, sets off smoke bombs and goes into a war dance to celebrate every Brave home run. On Monday, though, one of his smoke bombs backfired.

When Cleto Boyer tagged a two-run shot in the sixth inning, the Chief, an Ottawa-Chippewa Indian from Charlevoix, Mich., whose real name is Levi Walker, went into his act.

Then, something unscheduled happened. Flames enveloped his canvas tepee, shooting up about two feet over the top of the flimsy structure.

"It was sabotage," said Walker, who gets $10 per game for his homer celebrations. "Somebody got in my smoke bombs and fooled with them."

Undaunted by the sudden emergency, the resourceful Indian grabbed a trusty broomstick he keeps "in the tepee for housekeeping" and beat out the flames. But it was too late to save his home. The canvas will have to be replaced.

"Maybe," said Nok-A-Homa philosophically, "it was just a hot game."

It wasn't so hot for the Cardinals, who managed just five hits against Phil Niekro. The game was scoreless until the sixth when Felipe Alou opened with a single.

Felix Millan forced Alou but Orlando Cepeda, facing his ex-Cardinal teammates for the first time, doubled for one run. Then Boyer followed with the homer which cost Nok-A-Homa his humble home.

Carew, the major league's leading hitter, boosted his average to .394 with his fourth and fifth homers of the year, each with a man on base.

The second one came in a five-run fourth inning that opened a 7-0 bulge for the Twins. Carew also had connected in the third inning.

Carew also made a sparkling play in the field in the second inning. There were runners on first and third with one out when the Minnesota second baseman lunged to stop Paul Casanova's grounder and started an inning-ending double play while on the ground.

Frank Howard broke a nine-game homer famine with his 15th of the season, accounting for Washington's only run off winner Jim Perry, 4-1.

All other major league teams and mascots had the night off.

second metacarpal bone (behind the index finger) of the right hand.

"He won't be able to train until a minimum of eight weeks," said Dr. Campbell.

That means a delay in Benvenuti's next defense of his middleweight (160 pound) title. He whipped Don Fullmer in a title defense on Dec. 14 and his six months period of grace expires on June 14.

The World Boxing Association's championship committee insists that the 31-year-old champion must defend next against Luis Rodriguez, the WBA's No. 1 contender from Miami.

Rodriguez, a one-time welterweight king, and his manager, Angelo Dundee, saw Tiger, who will be 40 on Aug. 14, completely dominate Benvenuti, who had used his injured right only sparingly.

"We'll wait for him," said Dundee. "We've been waiting a long time. I'm posting a $2,000 forfeit check with the New York Commission."

"Right now we've got offers for Benvenuti of $100,000 in Puerto Rico, $150,000 in Miami Beach, and $200,000 in San Diego which is celebrating its 200th year. My guy will take a lot less, we want the title shot."

"I'm sick over it," said Mushky Salow, manager of light heavyweight champion Bob Foster, before the word got out of Nino's broken hand. He had hoped for a lucrative match between the two champions.

A year and two days before, Foster won the light heavy crown by knocking out Tiger in the fourth round.

Would Foster fight Tiger again?

"Sure, we'll be very happy to do that if the money is right," said Salow.

"He wants a $100,000," said Tiger. "I haven't got that kind of money."

The officials had Tiger the winner by the following round scores: referee Tony Perez, 7-2-1; judge Joe Armstrong 6-4-1, and judge Al Berl 6-3-1. The Associated Press had Tiger in front, 7-3.

A crowd of 14,305 paid $147,431 for the television fight. Benvenuti earned $50,000 and Tiger $35,000. They may get more with television reruns. And there's the possibility of a very lucrative return match.

Little League Features Tight Games Monday

The Little League majors featured two very close games during the opening night of action.

Gerlecz, the Rotary majors hurler, chucked a no-hitter and struck out 13 in Rotary's 4-3 victory over Pepsi.

The game also is credited with the first triple play of the year. It was registered in the fifth-inning when one of the Pepsi batters lined to the first baseman, who threw to third for the second out and with the shortstop covering at second, took the throw for the third out.

Thomason took the loss for the Pepsi team.

In the other game at Centennial Park, Coca Cola copped a 2-1 victory over the Elks.

Winning pitcher for Coke was Kennon; Masters was the loser.

At Liberty Park, Adeco netted an 8-3 win over Keele Paint. J. O. Dotson homered for Adeco. Pitching honors went to Jim Vansell, winner, while Greg Bechtel took the loss.

In the final majors contest, Monday night, the Lions won over the Teamsters, 8-1.

Little League Opening

The 1969 Little League season was officially opened Monday night at the Liberty Park stadium with the Little League flag raising. Jim Sanders (L)

Another Location

George O. Weatherly, president of Sedalia International Drapery, Inc. contacted the Democrat-Capital sports department Monday and said all systems were go for a new drag strip for the Sedalia area.

Weatherly noted that the facility will be relocated from the first proposed site on the Missouri State Fairgrounds to another, which will be named, hopefully, later this week.

He also stated that he was not willingly, trying to create any animosity with the residents of Southwest Village, when he picked the fairgrounds location.

"It was available and I negotiated with authorities in Jefferson City for a lease," Weatherly stated.

What is probably of even more importance than what the Southwest Villagers felt about the initial location of the drag strip, is the revenue the state will not now be able to receive.

The yearly amount of the state's share of the fairground's lease would have been between $75,000 and $100,000. But, since that location has been scrubbed, the state will only benefit through regular taxation. A tremendous amount less than if it was located on state property.

Sedalia and Pettis County, both will benefit from the new site, tax wise, since the facility will not be located on the state's land.

Weatherly feels that the new location will be even more feasible than the state fairgrounds' site because of its flexibility.

If all the preliminaries and red tape go well, a July opening is still planned.

Her Efficiency Method:
Cleanup as You Work

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—My daughter is the wife of a missionary in Africa and does not always have time to clean up after her frequent entertaining before she has to go on to another project. I have tried to help her work out a way to make the job easier. She has no dandy old dishwasher as I have. Perhaps some of the ideas will help others.

First, try cleaning up as you work when making a cake, salad, or even fixing a lunch. Put away anything you used, dispose of the garbage and wipe up the crumbs. When I begin a meal I put an old shortening can in the sink, add a dab of detergent and fill with water. Then I partially fill the sink with water and add a bit more detergent. As I progress with a meal, each dirty knife, fork, egg beater or spatula and so on is put into the can of sudsy water. HANDLE ENDS UP. All used cups, plates, bowls, etc., go into the sink water with a semblance of stacking with the plates on the bottom. Any big kettle, bowl or awkward shaped pitcher is quickly washed, dried and put away then and there. Every pot and pan is put to soak. If one has a dishwasher, things are ready to go in it when the meal is over. If not, they are ready to wash, rinse and drain fast. —ELEANOR

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Is there any way to brighten the color of hand-hooked scatter rugs? Mine are all so sun-faded. —MRS. H. G.

DEAR POLLY—I give away a cake, then I never see my plate again. Why not wrap an old, no-longer-wanted photograph record with aluminum foil, place a round of waxed paper on top of it and use this as a cake plate? Looks pretty and certainly is more practical. —MILDRED

And who knows, your friend just might happen to like the record. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY—To help my grandchild learn to set the table correctly I drew a place setting on a paper towel to use as a guide. —MARJORY

DEAR POLLY—Vera wanted to know if her wall can opener can be sharpened. My husband has sharpened mine two or three times during the past 10 years. Ours has a circular "knife" held in place, on the back of the main bar, by a nut. The nut can be loosened, the knife taken out and sharpened with a whetstone. —MARGARET

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Vera that my wall can opener seemed to need sharpening very badly. After examining it carefully I just gave it a good cleaning and now it works like new. —EMMA

Wasteful Military Expenditure Is Said Partly Congress' Fault

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield—adding his voice to mounting congressional claims of wasteful military spending—says Congress must take much of the blame.

"I think that the Congress has been at fault for allowing things to get out of hand," Mansfield said Sunday.

But unlike congressional critics who are pressing for investigation of military contract practices and legislation to control them, Mansfield said he believes the controversy over the antimissile system already has brought a change of attitude.

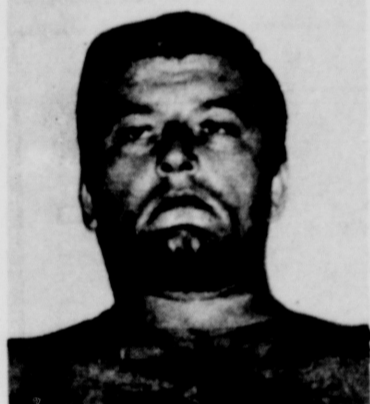

And he said the blame cannot be laid simply to growth of a military-industrial combine.

"I think this combine," he said, which is not just military-industrial but includes labor, the academic area, and the political field—including people like myself who want projects for their states—are all at fault and are all to blame because we haven't had the guts to stand up to this growth like topsy."

Wherever the blame lies, Mansfield said, he questions the type of military contracts that have been let, the money spent, the money wasted, "and the fact that until last year all the Defense Department had to do was to ask and they would receive."

The Democratic leader was interviewed on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation."

Wrestling, Boxing On Tap

K.O. Cox

Both wrestling and boxing will be presented tonight at Convention Hall, with two rugged heavyweights scheduled for double duty.

Booked for the main grappling event are Ronnie Etchison and K.O. Cox. They'll also collide in a six-round boxing test, each wearing eight-ounce gloves.

Etchison pressured for the boxing event in an effort to settle accounts with Cox for a roughing the Denver belter gave him during team action last week. Etchison was on the way to pinning Tornado Murdock, Cox's partner in the tag match, when K.O. stepped into the ring and caught the Missouri veteran from behind.

In the process, the hard-hitting Cox worked Etchison over in rugged fashion before the big fellow could respond. Etchison vowed to let his fists do the talking the next time they met.

As a former Golden Gloves champion, Etchison has experience as a fighter and added to it with a brief effort in the pro ranks. But wrestling is his game and it's in the action he's expected to test Cox to the limit.

Mixed tag team warring is on the schedule tonight. That semifinal event will see Bruce Kirk joining forces with Jean Antonio to go opposite the free-swinging Viking and his attractive female partner, Betty Niccoli.

Sabu, the fast-moving, talented import from India, will try to boost his area stock when he tests veteran Thor Hagen. In the 8:30 opener, Kirk will wrestle the Viking.

School Measure Stalled

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri House Education Committee members gave a cool reception Monday night to a three-pronged Senate proposal aimed at solving financial problems of public schools.

The Senate proposal—a conglomerate of Senate bills combined into one—was heard Monday night by the House Education Committee only hours after the Senate Education Committee had killed a House bill aimed at the same target.

The bill, sponsored by Senate majority leader A. Basye Vandlandingham, D—Columbia, would raise the statewide cigarette tax from 4 cents a pack to 9 cents with the estimated $35 million earmarked for public schools.

But a combination of the three Senate bills into one would also create a new "School Equalization Fund" and establish a new formula for distribution to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the House-Senate subcommittee on economy, has scheduled hearings on military spending practices for the first two weeks in June. A House government operations subcommittee is investigating the military's contract policy.

"There are clear signs that the federal government is spending too much money on military programs," Proxmire said. "Huge cost overruns, waste and inefficiency have become the hallmarks of military procurement."

A bill to provide automatic congressional review of cost overruns and late delivery by government contractors has been introduced by Rep. James F. Hastings, R-N.Y., to curb what he calls "extravagant expenditures by the military."

The investigations would be conducted by Congress' watchdog, the General Accounting Office, and the results routinely turned over to appropriate committee.

In the midst of the furor, the Army recently announced that it had adopted a new policy of insisting on workable prototypes

Blame Furnace Gas in Deaths

CASEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The St. Clair County Coroner's office ruled two persons found dead in the bedroom of their Caseyville home Sunday died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Robert C. Gardner, 36, and his daughter, Barbara, 5, were found dead by Gardner's sister-in-law, who was to accompany them to church.

Gardner's 30-year-old wife, Melva, was taken to a Belleville hospital where she was listed in serious condition.

County Coroner C. C. Kane said the deaths were probably caused by carbon monoxide coming through heat registers from a defective furnace.

to smooth out bugs ahead of time.

Chairman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., of the House subcommittee which is investigating contract policy, says he understands the military's dilemma—even though he is disturbed by a pattern of high research and development costs.

Military procurement officers are under pressure to "push the state of the art by breaking new ground," Holifield said.

When the military chooses to be conservative in developing new hardware and another nation makes a radical advance, he said, it comes under strong criticism.

Hijacker Had Total Control Over Airplane

MIAMI (AP) — Northeast Airlines Capt. Ted Connors says he's the boss in the air and his stewardess-wife runs things on the ground—but there was no question who was in command Monday when a Latin hijacker held a pistol to Mrs. Connors' temple.

"I was very agreeable," said Kathleen Connors, a tall platinum blonde. "As I was passing his seat he jumped up and grabbed me by the arm, put the gun in my side and said, 'Cuba! Cuba!'"

"There was no question in our mind," said Connors, a hefty, square-jawed veteran flier. "We just did a 180 (degree turn) and headed for Cuba."

The gunman in the cockpit, a short, chubby man wearing a tiny felt hat with turned up brim, and two companions in the passenger compartment diverted the Miami-to-New York flight at about 10:50 a.m.

Connors landed the Boeing 727 trijet at Havana at 12:20 p.m. The plane, six crew members and 11 passengers returned to Miami at 4:10 p.m.

Carew is Happy on Top

WASHINGTON (AP) — Minnesota's Rod Carew not only is happy, leading the majors in hitting and threatening to become the first 400 hitter since Ted Williams but he also has added another weapon to harass enemy pitchers—the home run.

Carew, who had only nine in two seasons and only one last year, hit a pair of home runs Monday night in leading Minnesota to a 7-1 victory over the Washington Senators, their sixth consecutive loss.

The two homers—the first in his career he has hit a pair in one game—brought his season total to five.

They also came with Ted Uhlaender on base and were more than enough to offset the 15th home run by the league leader, Washington's Frank Howard.

Minnesota scored five runs in the fourth inning on four singles and Carew's homer.

Carew's two homers and a single in four trips to the plate boosted his average three points to .394, 16 points better than Cleon Jones of the New York

Mets and 55 points higher than his nearest American League challenger, Frank Robinson of Baltimore.

"I'm getting good pitches to hit," he said. "I haven't been chasing too many bad pitches. Every once in a while I get in a rut and start chasing bad pitches but I haven't been doing that."

Carew, the 1967 Rookie of the Year and All-Star second baseman the past two years, led the American League with a .301 average on Aug. 22 last year and then went into a late season slump.

"I got into too much trouble with the guys last year," he said, "but this year I decided to have a good time and have fun playing baseball."

"The guys have been treating me pretty good, so I'm relaxed. When I make a bad play on the field, I just shake it off and forget about it. It's been much better that way."

But Carew hasn't been making many bad plays, as his mark of only three errors will

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic party is still plagued by the strains and tensions that tore it apart last year and contributed heavily to its loss of the presidency.

Resistance from within and serious financial problems are hampering national and state efforts to remedy structural defects.

In a scattering of special and municipal elections this year, Democrats have compiled a mixed record.

They held a Tennessee congressional seat and picked one up in a longtime Republican district in Wisconsin. A Democrat won the nonpartisan mayor's election in Omaha, Neb., and another holds a lead in polls for mayor of Los Angeles.

But internal splits contributed heavily to the party's loss of the Minneapolis mayoralty and are threatening its chance to oust Republican Mayor John Lindsay of New York.

Party leaders are optimistic about holding governorships in New Jersey and Virginia, the only two being contested this year.

But on the national level, leadership is fragmented.

Hubert H. Humphrey, the nominal leader, is pointing himself towards a Senate race in 1970 and will regain a national forum shortly as chairman of the new Democratic Policy Council.

Lyndon B. Johnson, the most powerful single Democrat just months ago, has withdrawn from party affairs.

The Democratic congressional leadership, House Speaker John W. McCormack, 77, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, 66, have exhibited little initiative to date, although Mansfield has moved to convert the Democratic Policy Committee of the Senate into a group that will issue party policy positions.

A trio of senators, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George S. McGovern of South attest.

Carew, who has been hovering between .385 and .395 all season, says he believes it will be difficult for any one to end the season with a 400 batting average.

"It's tougher nowadays," he said. "The pitchers are different. They'll come in with breaking stuff on the 3-2 pitch today but they used to throw straight fast stuff before."

"But you never know what will happen," he said. "If you get lucky, you never know."

And what does the last man to hit 400 think of Carew?

Williams said: "I haven't seen enough of him to say but he appears to be quick, speedy and shows power."

"I don't know how good a hitter he is on a one day performance," Williams said, "but on this one day, he looked pretty good."

Donohue, Top 500 Rookie

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mark Donohue, America's premier road racing driver, tops the field of rookies in cars for Friday's Indianapolis 500.

The rookie tag here, of course, refers only to the lack of previous 500 experience. Grand Prix veteran Graham Hill of Britain was a rookie when he won the 1966 race.

The average age of this year's five rookies is 31. All but Bruce Walkup, 24, are veterans in other racing circles.

Do they feel like rookies here? "You bet I'm a rookie," says George Follmer, 35, of Arcadia, Calif., who is driving his own car. "I don't imagine you can hear that big crowd race day, but I'm sure you feel extra pressure."

Follmer's background includes success in sports car racing and a victory in the first U.S. Auto Club championship race of this season, a 150-mile event in his native Phoenix, Ariz.

Donohue, who received the Martini and Rossi Driver of the Year award last year, said he was happy about the rain that washed out the scheduled first weekend of 500 qualifying May 17-18.

"I woke up that first morning and looked out the motel window. The stands were full and it was only 8 o'clock. It kind of shook me up."

A week later, more relaxed, he put his Lola, with a turbocharged Offenhauser engine, in the fourth starting position.

It's the best starting position for a rookie since Mario Andretti won the same spot in 1965.

Donohue, a Brown University graduate, left an engineering job in New Jersey two years ago to begin driving full time.

Dakota, maneuver warily towards the far-off 1972 Presidential election with polls showing the 37-year-old Kennedy a heavy favorite of rank-and-file Democrats.

But some party leaders were jolted by a Gallup Poll last week showing Kennedy trailing President Nixon 33 per cent to 52 per cent if an election were held then. It was a shift of some 10 points to the Republicans since last November's election.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy expect the Minnesota Democrat to make another bid for the presidency in 1972.

But he has stayed aloof from most political activities and is sticking so far to his announced decision not to seek his party's nomination for another Senate term in 1970.

The party's national chairman, Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, has given party headquarters its first thorough shakeup since 1960.

Installed as a Humphrey man, Harris, 38, is building his own political strength through control of the national machinery. He hopes to name the policy council within a few days.

The leading Democratic national figures are in general agreement on issues such as the antiballistic missile system and the need for more emphasis on domestic priorities. But McGovern and Kennedy have been more outspoken in criticizing the Nixon administration on Vietnam.

The national committee is making active plans for 1970 and has been helping Democratic candidates in the congressional races and the Los Angeles mayoral contest where all top party leaders are supporting Negro Tom Bradley in his race against Mayor Samuel F. Yorty, a nominal Democrat.

Spacemen Get Praise From Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet newspapers and Russians in the street hailed America's Apollo 10 moon flight and praised the astronauts today for their bravery and sense of humor.

One smiling Moscowite summed it up: "Molodtsy (good boys)."

Pravda called the astronauts "three courageous people who wrote yet another bright page in the history of conquering the cosmos."

The Soviet Communist party newspaper also carried an article by Leonid Sedov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, who said: "Mankind highly evaluates the achievements of American specialists and the courageous cosmonauts."

"The Soviet people send their congratulations to the American cosmonauts, specialists and workers, and wish them further successes in the peaceful development of cosmic studies."

Sedov, chairman of the Soviet commission for promotion of interplanetary flights, gave his readers a step-by-step explanation of the Apollo 10 mission.

"One of the basic results of the flight of Apollo 10," he concluded, "was that all its most important systems worked perfectly and reliably."

He said its color telecasts from space as well as other American and Soviet broadcasts have shown "the strikingly beautiful earth as it looks from far distances."

In Trud, the trade union paper, engineer T. Borisov said: "The flight was not easy for the courageous troika... but all difficulties are behind already."

"The cosmonauts stood the test with honor and successfully completed their eight-day flight."

Borisov called attention to the "gay performance" by the crew on one TV broadcast during the flight.

"They secretly brought a portable tape recorder on board the ship with recordings of light music and TV viewers saw that Stafford, Young and Cernan were up to something with acrobatic performances accompanied by the Sinatra song 'Fly Me to the Moon.'"

Fly Whales to NY In Trade Agreement

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — A ton of whale, wrapped in foam rubber, takes off by airliner tonight for New York City.

MarineLand of the Pacific is trading two small pilot whales and two striped dolphins to the New York Aquarium for some eastern shark.

But the party is still crippled by the deficit of close to $6 million it inherited from Humphrey's 1968 campaign. A $1,000-a-plate dinner the Democratic Sponsors Club of New York plans for June 12 is the first major effort to whittle the deficit, and a drive is under way to build a roster of paying participating party members.

Democrats hope to maintain control of Congress next year and to make inroads on the 30-20 Republican majority in governorships. But they face an uphill fight in the Senate where they have a 57-43 majority but must defend 25 seats while seeking to capture only nine held by Republicans.

On the House side, where Democrats have a 244-190 majority now, party leaders have moved to revitalize their campaign committee.

The New Democratic Coalition, a loose grouping of the party's McCarthy-Kennedy-McGovern elements, held its fundraising dinner, a $100-a-plate affair, last Saturday. But the NDC too has its internal strains, which reflect those of the party at large.

Kennedy agreed to address the dinner, his first political speech in Washington this year, only after he reportedly made sure McCarthy wasn't coming.

While Kennedy, McGovern and Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa addressed the gathering, McCarthy declined an invitation and Muskie wasn't even invited. The reformers consider him an organization man.

More than 30 states have NDC units, and many are active in local contests.

And next year, NDC-backed candidates are expected to challenge many regulars for congressional nominations, in local contests and for control of party machinery.

In some states, regulars are moving in the face of the expected challenge to revitalize their organizations and make them more responsive to rank-and-file sentiment. At least 20 states have their own reform commissions.

Nationally, the reform drive is being pushed by two party commissions established by last summer's convention over the resistance of its managers.

One, headed by McGovern, is examining party structure and the way in which convention delegates are selected. The second, headed by Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., is examining convention rules and structure.

Yet, from both wings of the party, there is optimism.

As Stephen A. Mitchell, McCarthy's convention manager, a former national chairman and one of the leading reform voices on the O'Hara commission, said last week:

"We've got only one way to go—and that is up. It can't get any worse after 1968. It has to get better."
